NEED COUNTRY INFORMATION?

A Passage to the World

Rich culture reports cover everything from childhood, dating, marriage, family and funerals to cultural faux pas. The Global Road Warrior database is a valuable treasure trove for research projects, travel planning and more.

A plethora of topics gets travelers, relocaters and professionals the information they need to plot and trot the globe.

Attractive, high-resolution maps provide bright, visual learning tools for the classroom, as project accents, or as learning and study guides.

Constantly updated data offers students, travelers, business people and researchers plenty to explore on a continual basis.

An international staff of research writers and cartographers, led by senior writer and researcher Jeffrey Curry, MBA, Ph.D., International Affiliate Professor at the Universite de Nantes in France, give the product a global perspective and a leading edge.

Senegalese women don headscarves or turbans to match their bouabous (loose-fitting tunics).

Maté, a traditional Argentine infusion made by steeping the dry leaves and twigs of the native yerba mate plant, is served in a gourd with a straw.
